

God Gives More Freedom

When I first came to Abundant Life, I did not come as an adult, but as a wounded, broken, and scarred little girl. There was an adult who protected and trusted no one, very hard. But in one of my first sessions, you said you wanted to read something to me. You came over and sat next to me on the couch and at that instant some salls in Stephanie started breaking. Because of my past, I always felt dirty, disgusting and unlovable. But when you sat next to me, it showed me that you didn't see me that way. That you were not looking at what I had done.

Then you started reading the book "You Are Special", at that instant you won the heart and trust of the little girl. I will never forget it. And I hope that you never regret it, becuase if you hadn't done it, I might not be where I am today. That was the first and only time anyone ever read to me or the little girl.

The meaning of that story has stuck with me and I will cherish it. One day when I have children of my own that will be the first story I read to them.

Thank you for caring enough for me that you looked beyond my past and sat next to me with love, comfort, and support. And thank you for understanding the little girl and for being willing to come to her level to reach her. She may be healed and gone soon, but I will always remember the day you touched the heart of two broken with just your time and concern.

I donate this book to Abundant Life for all the wounded inner children that walk through your doors. As like me, they are looking for someone who will understand and give of their time. I love you both so very much and my life is a miracle.

You may sometimes wonder if your doing all you can do, well, just look at me, it's took time, but I am a miracle. Satan wanted me dead, but I am alive and getting ready to fight.

God looks down on you both and smiles and one day you will hear these words, "Well done my good and faithful servant." In your crown will be a ruby for every life you have touched.

And because of your ministry to God, I will be in heaven too! Thank you.
